

Environmental Data Module

Our Environmental Data Module provides measurable equity for your project's public engagement efforts.

By layering Environmental Justice data from the EPA onto your participation map, you can analyze and create reports directly from your project dashboard.

Measurable equity

Ensure your public engagement efforts reach every corner of the community and adhere to the highest standards of equity. By layering data from the EPA directly onto your project's public participation map, you can prove that your outreach has reached your most underserved populations.

Directly in your PublicInput.com dashboard

The time and technology required to integrate data from the EPA's EJSCREEN tool prohibits organizations from taking full advantage of it without access to a robust GIS team. Avoid these hardships by using a solution specifically built to visualize and report on this data from one central place.

Built with federal compliance in mind

Plan your outreach and publish NEPA-ready reports that demonstrate your engagement in Environmental Justice communities including Limited English Proficiency, Low income, Minority, and Education levels.
